THE SOUNDS OF FOOTSTEPS

Walking, running, strutting, jogging, strolling, parading, moseying. Each person has their own individual style, but everyone had to get together to take that first step to begin their journey through the 1983-84 school year. On that first day of registration a big crowd turned out, reluctant to see the summer end yet excited to be back for another year at Washington. From the Seniors, stepping easily into their final year, to the Freshmen, jumping eagerly into the first year, everyone knew that the year would be great. Everyone sensed the anticipation in the air, the universal feeling that the year ahead would bring something for everyone. The emotion carried over to the first day of school, when the halls were filled with the sounds of footsteps hurrying to class and voices calling greetings to friends who had followed different paths over the summer. But these paths had finally merged back together once again as another new school year began. Along with the familiar faces and routines, there were a few changes waiting for us as we stepped into the new year. We welcomed several new teachers to Washington's staff: Mrs. Adams, Mr. Miller, and Mr. Kato. We congratulated Industrial Arts teacher Mr. McAlister on his recent wedding. And we were forced to grow accustomed to a brand new schedule, saying goodbye to brunch and A-period but welcoming a later starting hour. But no amount of change could dampen our spirits. The year started off with a bang; the journey had begun.

The fast-moving pace of the journey never slowed down as the year progressed. There was never a dull moment on Washington's campus; all kinds of activities kept us busy, and new and exciting events kept our interest. Football season brought out new and unique hairstyles on our football players, ranging from traditional mohawks and crewcuts to shaved out numbers and baldness. Of course it all grew back, but it provided a new and interesting look for the fall. The Senior class was enjoying itself immensely, as all Seniors should, but trouble still arose. A new District ruling outlawed Grad Night at Disneyland, but the class of '84 sprang back from the bad news and found another solution. Nothing could spoil the Senior year they had so long awaited. At the other end of things, the Freshmen also bounced through the year. An astounding number turned out for class elections, and the officers showed great leadership qualities. WHS also saw its first Freshman cheerleaders in years. The class of '87 promised great things for Washington in the years to come.

STROLLING

The unusually large Freshman class gave us a great big boost, increasing the numbers of Washington to a phenomenal 1800 students, and we enjoyed all of the many fresh faces on the campus. The prevailing attitude during the entire school year was that the Huskies were a lot bigger and a lot better than they had ever been before. And it was truly wonderful to see how our growing numbers brought even more spirit and unity to Washington as we traveled through the year. And so the journey progressed. We took it in stride, taking only one step at a time, savoring every minute given to us. And the most important thing of all was that we knew that we were doing it together. There was a sense of unity all the way along with the path of time. The Huskies came together again to make 1984 the greatest year that Washington had ever seen, a journey that we would remember forever.

1. Walking through W.H.S. 2. Jill Brumbau the professional winker. 3. Carrie and Craig McAllister joined together in marriage over the summer. 4. Forever flirting is Stephanie Stahler. 5. Coach Ingram walks all over the team to prepare them for a tough season.

THE PRIDE AND POWER OF BEING A HUSKY

1. The pride of the Huskies is seen throughout the entire school, even in the middle of the gym floor. 2. John Mena, Jim McClellan, Neil Egan, and Chris Durie show their school spirit through the excitement of the Homecoming Dance.

1. Rich Comer tries to look strong but anyone can see his weakness of Husky Power. 2. Jenneane Jansen shows her pride through helping Becky Wallin out with her French homework. 3. Dawn Greenwood, Jill Brumbau, Timo Parrish, and Jenneane Jansen feel that togetherness is the strongest form of pride that W.H.S. has. 4. Cara Tootle feels the strength of Husky Pride through the Spirit Week Competition.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES

WALKING THROUGH CAMPUS

Many different kinds of people attended Washington this year, and when walking through campus it was easy to see a variety of people and activities. For some, studying was the thing; for others, having a good time. But no matter what the event was, everyone had one thing in common—they were Huskies, and proud of it. And so, in walking through Washington's campus, we saw on the faces around us confidence, happiness, enjoyment; and through the good times and the bad that sense of togetherness that united the Washington students. We knew that walking through the campus was only a small portion of the journey we were all taking through time.

1. Patricia Metcalf concentrates on her studying. 2. Denise Crum and Gina Gerhardt stop and smile.

1. Annett Chun goes through the channel of the attendance office as she arrives late for school. 2. Enjoying lunch, Jill Brumbaugh and Dawn Greenwood, participate in the usual routine of campus life. 3. Caroline Brown studies for the Hamlet test in English Literature, as most people only think about studying.

FADS AND FASHIONS

Huskies held together by their hair

By Mike Weaver
Staff writer

FREMONT — The concept of team unity has taken on new meaning, or at least a new look, at Washington High.

After listening to coach Jim Ingram talk about going home to shave his head following practice Tuesday, several members of the varsity football squad decided that haircuts might help pull the team together. Not ordinary haircuts, mind you, but real haircuts.

So they visited Lucy Di Giulio, a Washington fan who also happens to cut hair, and got "scalped."

"The whole thing was really kind of funny," said Mary Martin, who helped Di Giulio with the hair cutting. "I think it made Coach Ingram's day when he found out about it."

Originally, the plan called for mohawks all around. However, some of the players found that their hair wasn't suited for that particular style, so a hodge-podge of "unique" haircuts resulted.

The crew cut was the most popular choice among the players, but mohawks and other, more original, styles proved quite popular as well.

"We all wanted to do something for team unity," said quarterback Ed Pedreira, who opted for a crew cut with his uniform number (11) shaved into the back. "We wanted to look like the coach, but none of us had the guts to be a total skin head."

Ingram, who has been shaving his head for several years, feels the haircuts will help team morale and keep things loose around the Washington camp. "I think it's great," he said. "It was my idea. I'm the original, they're all just copies."

"This haircut thing really has me psyched up," said Randy Gonzalez, who bears a striking resemblance to NBC's Mr. T with his new mohawk. "And because I'm more psyched up, I'm going to hit the weights harder and play a lot harder."

It's doubtful that the new hair styles will help the Huskies' performance on the field this year, but at least they won't have an identity crisis. As running back Ron Martin said, "Whenever you see a football player with a shaved head around here, you know he goes to Washington High."

Either that, or he's a punk rocker.

Undoubtably, the most popular current events of the latter months of 1983 have to involve both confrontations in Lebanon and Grenada. What more can be said than the picture of this American marine, sadly contemplating the loss of a fallen comrade.

On a more optimistic note, we've heard of the illustrious love affair between popular artist and song writer, Billy Joel, and the hottest model to hit the scene since Bo Derek, Miss Kristy Brinkley.

We've cheered at the accomplishments of the runners in the Boston marithon. (One of which, being our own Mr. Ficken.) And we cheered our favorite team on in World Series.

President Reagan announced his candidacy for the 1984 elections; among his competion will be the first negro to run for this office, the reverend Jessie Jackson.

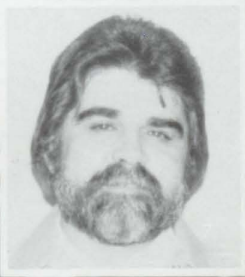

The news media suffered loss when popular announcer, Jessica Savich died in an automobile accident.

JOIN AND HELP

What's the Booster Club? Well, it's a group of parents that are helping our sports program be the best it can be. Raising money by: doing inventories, pancake breakfasts, sponsoring dances and various other activities. They help to furnish new uniforms, new sports equipment, or whatever else is needed by any sport that is participated in by Washington High School students. Do you participate in a sport? If you do, do your parents belong? Encourage them to join the only one it helps is you, so join and help!

President John Mena. 5. Secretary Roberta Silva. 6. V. P. Al Mayes. 7. Treasurer Paula Gonzales. 8. Membership Fred Martin.

CSF has one goal this year and that is to get as many members as possible. In the past they had a reputation of a boring club and they would really like to change that image this year. CSF has a lot of activities planned. They're working on some field trips at Lake Elizabeth if the rain will let up, if not they have a lot of other activities planned that will keep them busy. Last year CSF took a trip to Angel Island and it was very successful so they plan on trying it again. They hope to have a very successful year.

HOW FAR CAN WE GO

Let's leave town. Let's get away. Let's hit the road. These inspirational lines were used by the bike club to plan on weekend bike rides. They traveled all over the bay area this year. From short little rides to coyote hills to big distances to manteca. Some people get tired riding their bikes to their friends house, but not these people, no distance is too far. The bike club is relatively new to Washington High School. It was inspired by Mr. Barry Hottle, a long time cyclist. If he doesn't get his miles in every week he's a bear. To encourage others to pick up the sport he started the bike club. Hopefully more people will become involved in this club in the up coming years. It helps people get exercise, stay in shape and most important relax. How far do you think you can go?

LET'S PLAY CHESS!!!!

Checkmate? No that doesn't mean that your girlfriend or boyfriend is cheating on you. It is a term used in the game of Chess. Our club has grown and become more active this year. It participated in interleague chess competitions. If you're looking for something to do at lunch, and you're interested in learning how to play chess, they're always looking for new members to practice on.

INTERACT CLUB

"We are, in essence, a service club whose basic purpose is to help others and beautify our surroundings," said Michelle Taghioff, president of Washington's Interact Club. Interact planned various activities this year to benefit the school and the community. Money earned from the Interact - sponsored Aloha Dance was donated for trophies in the Business Department. Planting trees and painting the lockers were also planned projects to beautify our school. Entertaining the childrens ward at Washington Hospital and Christmas caroling in convalescent hospitals were also ways Interact served worthy causes.

MR. HUSKY FINALISTS

This year students from our school nominated 12 students from the class who they thought deserved to be nominated for Mr. Husky 1983-1984. Some of the qualifications were to be in a sport, to have been a member of an activity from school, to show class spirit. Well the way these were nominated were in American Government classes. These were the twelve nominees, Paul Davis, Victor Fleischer, Steve Fudenna, Terre Gibson, Randy Gonzalez, Andre Johansen, Butch Kavorkian, Mike Hollinghaus, Robert Martin, Ronny Martin, John Mena, Ernie Neeley. Then after we got these twelve 12 nominees, we had to pick our five finalists. These were Steve Fudenna, Randy Gonzalez, Ronny Martin, John Mena, and Ernie Neeley. Then out of our five finalists the one that the school felt most deserved it was Ernie Neeley. So our 1983-1984 Mr. Husky was Ernie Neeley.

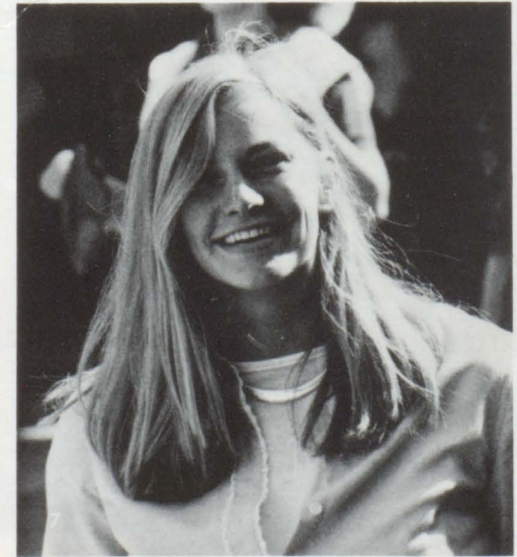

1. Mr. Husky- Ernie Neeley. 2. Steve Fudenna. 3. Ronny Martin. 4. John Mena.

HOMECOMING QUEEN NOMINEES

QUEEN AND HER COURT

For this years Homecoming Queen, the Senior class nominated twelve girls they thought deserved to represent their school. They were Alyssa Kim, Jill Brumbaugh, Timo Parrish, Jenny Shiffrar, Cheryl Uhlir, Debbie DeReis, Tami Warhurst, Mary Mitchell, Margo Knight, Dawn Greenwood, Jennifer Overman, and Jeneanne Jansen.

At a rally, candidates were introduced with their escorts, so everyone would have a chance to hear their qualifications for becoming queen. Then ballots were handed out to every student in their second period classes. Of the top twelve girls, five were chosen for the court.

Debbie DeReis was crowned 1983-1984 Queen at the Homecoming Game. The Princesses also crowned were Dawn Greenwood, Jennifer Overman, Jenneane Jansen, and Margo Knight.

The queen, her court, and the football team were winners this night. Debbie will preside over next years ceremony and will crown the new queen.

FRESHMEN ABLAZE

1. Freshmen show their acting skills with a rumble.
2. Dana Wallin dramatizes the scene. 3. Rachel Stahler is the narrator of the performance.

1. Freshmen rumble. 2. The Freshman class elated with joy!

The freshmen class this year put on an outstanding rendition of a 50's rumble while adding their own style and creativeness. They rumbled with the Vikings and did a great job at showing how much spirit they had. They put their talent together with intuitive ideas and came out with an eye-catching skit! Through-out the week, the Freshman class showed that they had a great amount of spirit. In fact their spirit, as rated by the judges, got them a third place prize for the entire week. A successful first-time spirit week for the Freshman class.

SOPHOMORES AT

The sophomore class off the week by dressing-up as pre-school children and continued to have an abundance of spirit throughout the week. The class held their skit on Tuesday and did a commendable job. In the skit only the Sophomores had enough spirit and power to rescue Hank from the evil kidnappers. The Sophomores were outstanding in their showmanship and their determination to show that they had the most spirit for this year. The judges: Mr. McAllister, Mrs. Adams, Mr. Miller, and Mr. Oeden, determined that the Sophomore class had the most spirit as compared with the other classes. Their first place award was given at the Homecoming game this year and was gladly received! Great job Sophomores!

1. Sophomores rage with their spirit! 2. Hank looks on.

THEIR BEST

1. Sophomores. Spirit over-comes them. 2. Doing their best in their skit.

JUNIORS

The Junior class this year had great determination in showing their spirit. Their skit was presented on Monday, which was hard, but the Juniors handled it with ease. The skit involved a trial, with "Judge Stud", and the majority of the class being the jury. The skit received rages by the audience. The Juniors continued to exhibit their spirit through-out the week. They received second place for their efforts.

1. Chris Durie as "Judge Stud." 2. Karen Bond and others strut across the gym. 3. The trial continues.

ON THE RISE

1. Juniors dress as high society "Sophomores." 2. Michelle Tagihoff and Candy Overstrum talk the jury. 3. Juniors dramatize drunk "Seniors."

SENSATIONAL SENIORS

If you happened to see gangsters, canibals, army men, or Indians walking around campus this year it was probably the senior's day for their skit during spirit week. "Father Time," told the story of seniors through the ages trying to get "Hank", back from the canibals. Finally the army men succeeded in completing the task. The well admired skit was an example of the senior's hard work. The class finished with a respectable fourth place.

1. Layne Brown as "Father Time." 2. "Gangsters" strut their stuff. 3. "Canibals" seduce the "Gangsters."

SHOW SPIRIT

1. Army men rescue Hank. 2. Canibals look on. 3. Indians loose their canoe. 4. Indians doing their dance while everyone looks on.

SPORTS

1. Husky tight defense sacs ball carrier. 2. Paul Davis takes his time as he cruises to practice. 3. The rally squad excites the crowd.

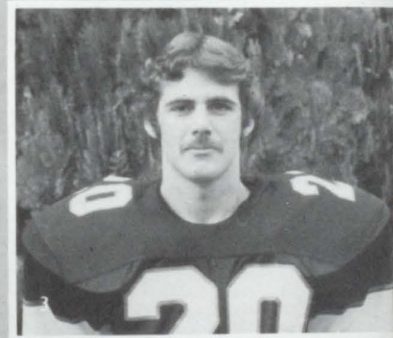

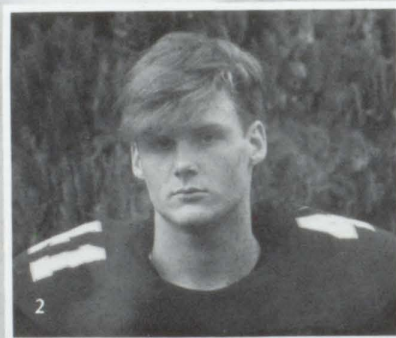

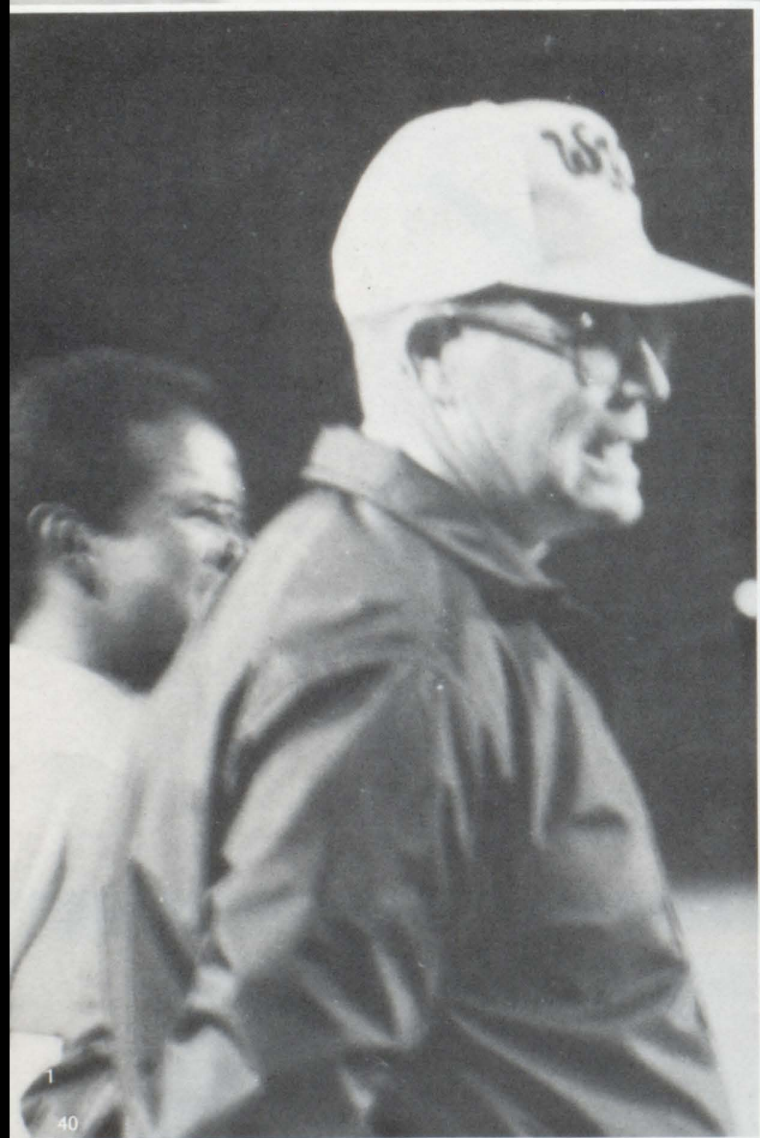

1. Annett Varela and Chris Giubbini relax before they go to practice. 2. People change from high heels to tennis shoes for sports. 3. Husky J.V. Football. 4. Elizabeth Roeber does her stuff for the Flag team.

CROSS COUNTRY

"Running seven miles a day isn't an easy, everyday job, but when you're among friends it makes the challenge worth it," commented Angela Olson, a senior on the WHS Cross Country Team.

The members faced hard workouts but always came out strong on the three-mile competition course consisting of both flat surfaces and hills.

Chuck Krejchi and Jim Kirby were two of the outstanding runners of the Boys Varsity team, which finished 5th place in the MVAL with a win-loss record of 2 and 4.

Qualifying for the NCS and completing the season with a 3rd place, 3 and 2 record were the accomplishments of the Girls Varsity team. The leading runners were Sheri Gutierrez, Tracey Borsa, and Shelly Rishel.

The Boys Frosh/Soph achieved an impressive 1st place in the MVAL with a 6 and 0 record. Although Coach Lemmon commented they were all great athletes, special recognition goes to Joe Murdica and Reed Wakely.

VARSITY VOLLEYBALL

This year's varsity volleyball team had an outstanding turnout during summer practices. "I found myself having to cut people, which I hate to do," said coach Marie Dean. Combined with talent and an abundance of enthusiasm, the team did very well in the league with a fourth place finish!

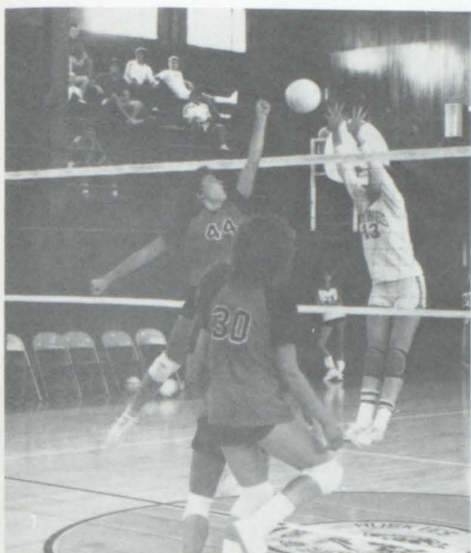

1. Coach Marie Dean gives an encouraging pep talk. 2. Ready for action! 3. Seniors: Margo Knight, Natalie Schramm, Jeanette Miller.

POWDER PUFF FOOTBALL

The first annual Powder Puff football game was very successful. Supervised by Mr. Mangini, he also refereed the game along with Coach Ingram and Mr. Steve Barnett.

The victorious Juniors scored two touchdowns to win the poised Seniors 12-0. The Senior coaches (Andre Johansen, Ron Martin, Ed Pedreira, Butch Kavorkian, Jim McClellan, John Mena, and Mike Hollingshaus) and the Junior coaches (Panch Pedreira, Don Camello, Scott Gibson, Todd Redburg, Dave Gonzales, and Jacque Frank) all volunteered their time to teach and condition the girls for the game.

All the profits from the game went to the fund for the school marquee.

VARSITY WRESTLING

"Dedication, discipline, and desire - the three D's" is what it takes to become one of the great Husky wrestlers, according to Coach Don French. Although the Huskies finished last in the MVAL, it wasn't because of lack of skill. They had to forfeit many matches because of the lack of wrestlers. But the few that made up the team were all tough. All did extremely well in the MVAL finals, and Bill Gervais, Kurt Tahira, and Dan Sherman made it to the NCS championships. Kurt Tahira finished fifth overall in his weight division, and Bill Gervais accomplished an outstanding first place in his division in the NCS. Both Bill and Kurt were team captains, with Kurt being Most Inspirational and Bill the Most Valuable Player. As for an overall comment of the season, Mike Chairez claims, "For the amount of people, we had a terrific year. I encourage a lot of people to come out in the future. The Huskies have the potential of being a great team."

GIRLS VARSITY BASKETBALL

This year's varsity girls basketball team was a very young team. According to coach Rob Friedrich, it was probably the youngest team in the history of the league. The team only had two seniors. Coach Friedrich seemed very impressed with Kirsten Bernardin and Natalie Schramm. It was a matter of these two outstanding players carrying the load for the team in terms of scoring. The coach saw a lot of potential in this young team. What impressed coach Friedrich the most was that "the team was working very hard to get into the play-off this year even though they knew they were up against high odds." But even though it was not their year, the team was still shooting for its goal — being the best defensively. Washington has always been known for being great defensively each year and the team was determined to keep this reputation.

GIRLS JR VARSITY BASKETBALL

This is the first year coaching for Wayne Carbonel, JV Girls basketball head coach. When asked what his hopes were for this year's season, he replied, "My hope is for all the girls to have a good time about the game and to learn different skills." Coach Carbonel saw a lot of potential for the team. The team was quick and although the girls aren't that tall they have good outside shooting. The team had a good start. Out of three pre-season games they won two and lost the first one. Carbonel commented that there was really no one on the team that outshone the others. It was a balanced scoring team where everyone scored.

HUSKIES NO. 1

This year the Washington Huskies Boys Soccer team seems to be going all the way. After sweeping the MVAL records to a 10-2 season best, we took first in the Shaughnessy Playoffs. Now the team is on its way to NCS, (North Coast Sectionals) they are currently on their way to the semi-finals in this tournament. This is of course, a great victory and honor for our talented athletes ... the first Washington High soccer team to make NCS since its origins in 1977. Combined with the success of other high achieving Huskie teams- such as Boys basketball and wrestling —and girls tennis. A new and exciting enthusiasm is being returned to Washington. And though the final outcome of a tremendous soccer season won't be known until after publication of this book, we wish the best luck to everyone on the team and thank them for giving us lots to cheer about.

This year's girls soccer team should be commended for their outstanding effort. Though they didn't do too well in league, they certainly had a lot of fun. Kaarin Woll commented, "I think that no matter what place we came in, our team is still number one. We put out 110% and that's all that counts." The team will lose four senior players and though the other players will be sorry to see them go, they'll no doubt be confident that next year's team will be as good if not better.

The 1984 boys' tennis team was a young one, with only three seniors—two returning lettermen and a transfer student—but they showed great potential in their pre-season matches. The Junior Varsity was a large team—a good thing, because that means that there will be good experienced players for our Varsity team in the next season. This year's team was guided by a new teacher on Washington's staff, Mr. Keith Kato. We welcomed Mr. Kato to our boys' tennis program and congratulated the Husky tennis team on a well-played season.

The boys varsity swimming team this year was very promising. With returning varsity lettermen such as Lenny Filippoff, Mike McBride, and John Hassett, and other strong J.V. swimmers from last year. The team should indeed be very strong and competitive. It has been a long time since we've had such an experienced team. "The team is on an up swing; we're in the process of building a quality program," said Coach Don French, with Coach John Felts, agreeing hardily.

As for the J.V. team, they are also going strong. They will definitely provide many great swimmers for next years varsity team.

GIRLS SOFTBALL

A slight breeze stired the dust from the softball infield. The huddled figure of Mrs. Dean worked diligently to secure second base into position. She then examined the equipment the softball team was to practice with. This routine was followed daily during the course of the season.

This season saw a bright group of girls work hard together and improve during the course of the season. Although there were no seniors on the team, a well balanced mixture of experienced juniors, eager sophomores and freshmen made up a competitive team.

"This is a rebuilding year, but who knows, we have alot of young talent on the team," said Mrs. Dean about her softball team. The whole starting roster will return for next year. Either a breeze or storm the girls softball team can't lose.

This years Husky Badminton team is headed by rookie coach Eustis. He started our team practices with the idea of having a tough, well-balanced team. Practices involve more calastetics and endurance training now, than ever before. Hopefully the great efforts of the team members will pay off. There are 9 seniors on the Badminton team this year. This is quite a bit! But fortunately there are ample and able underclassmen that will be filling the ranks in the years to come.

Senior, Amelda Amboy quotes on the prospects of her season at #L doubles.

"At the end of the season, you'll probably find the WHS Badminton team somewhere near the LOWER middle rankings in the MVAL. However, we've grown alot and have a great time together — so we're qualified for that.

BOYS & GIRLS

What is Block "W" Club?? It's a question most Washington students ask at one time or another during their years at WHS. Actually, the answer is quite simple for those students who are curious.

Block "W" club really consists of three functioning parts ... all equally active.

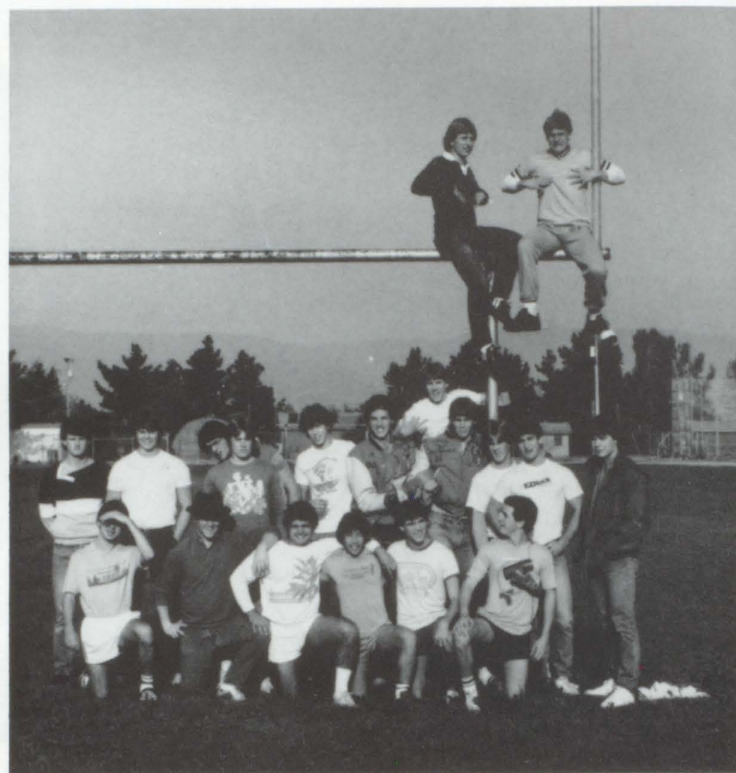

1. It has an advisor for each club (Boys & Girls)
2. It has a government made up of outstanding members in the club.
3. It has an active body of athletic students who have all earned a block in some Washington sports event.

So as you can see, it is a true honor to be involved with Block "W". What's ten times better, is to be active in the club, as in any club in WHS. Through Block "W" you can meet and become acquainted with other young athletes. You'll find you have a lot in common with many of them. You'll be able to participate in various fund raisers, and will have the honor of being known as a "Stud" or "Studette"!!

What the important thing is, is that you begin to feel that all the people participating in sports at WHS are one big happy family. If you already aren't a part of this great family, then why don't you give it a try next year if you've earned a block.

Caroline Brown, President of girls Block "W" club had this to say:

"Block "W" club is a true honor to belong to. It's an elite group of athletes having the opportunity to work together, and to share experiences with each other." "I'm very proud and excited to be the president of such a club, and hope to get a lot of involvement from the athletes of WHS."

WHO'S THE BOSS?

Welcome to the wonderful world of rules and regulations. Does anyone understand how they work or why they're there? Sometimes we find out the hard way, d-hall, Saturdays, or suspension. This year each dean took a different grade level and tried to crack down on all the trouble-makers. Do you remember who got the most green slips in second period this year?! If you think about it, probably the people who cut class the most are the people that receive them the most, but you know that's kind of ridiculous since they just get out of class some more.

Let's take a look at the off the ground pass. First you come on campus just to get your books, and you're a good kid so you tell the office that you're not going to be in first and second period this morning. The next thing you know you're looking into the dean's eyes and he's saying it's a cut since your mother didn't write you a note to get off the campus to go to the doctor's; in actuality she wrote you one to come on campus after seeing the doctor.

Here's another common problem. You have to be in your seat when the bell rings. Here you are just getting back from lunch and you're running into class, you made the doorway before the bell started to ring but since you're not in your seat you spend an hour in detention after school for being late for class. Yes this is real and it happens to kids all the time. Who cares if you're a good kid? The same punishment is given to someone else who comes in 20 minutes late.

This year the administration has tried to clean up the act. Some rules have been altered for the students, but we had to live through the changes just as everyone in the future will. Try to stop in the office and get to know the ladies behind the desks and those dreaded men in the offices they're people too so give them a chance.

MATHEMATICS-A WAY OF LIFE

What is a counselor for? You've received your schedule at the beginning of the year and you can't stand it. You've been scheduled for Spanish 1, French 1, and German 1 all at the same time. Your miserable so you seek out the guy in the office who's messed up. You go in with a terrible attitude and yell at your counselor. The worst part of the whole thing is they smile at you when your letting off your steam. Then when you're finished they pleasantly say "O.K. no problem." You've made a friend for life, and from then on you pop in and just say hi every once in a while. They care about you so let them know you care about them too. Their not there just for class problems, they can help you choose a college that's just right for you, their willing to listen to any outside problems you have and they are very supportive. So next time you're in the office stop by and say hello.

1. Mr. Stull. 2. Mrs. Polland. 3. Mr. Lane. 4. Ms. Real. 5. Who's this Italian? It's our GATE counselor Mr. Gelfuso.

MATHEMATICS-A WAY OF LIFE

Math is a complex subject full of integers, variables, formulas, and above all, numbers! Even though math is very confusing, without it we would be lost. We wouldn't be able to count items or figure our age, or even know what day it is. We wouldn't be able to figure the slope of a plane or the pull of a lever. Without math our whole way of life as we know it would end. We would no longer have chemistry, computers, or any science which is based on math. Without our teachers, we would never learn and we would never be able to succeed.

ENGLISH IS ENJOYABLE

"I want them to love it whether they like it or not," said Mr. Wallach. "I'll use any method — coercion, force, bribery, deceit, anything." Mr. French agreed. "I'll do anything short of hitting them with a big stick."

It may sound drastic, but most students don't realize the importance of the English class that they are taking. There is more to it than a list of vocabulary words or a book written 100 years ago. According to the Washington High English teachers, their classes teach students to think more effectively and communicate more intelligently. And many students agree. Dave Huynh commented, "Mr. Hottle talked about 'logical deductions' that I can apply to anything, not just writing papers. He also made me work hard, and that made me feel good." Mr. Hottle's students are asked, in every assignment, for the why instead of the what, for some kind of reasoning rather than straight facts. In continually searching for meaning in things, students will learn to respect uniqueness, and will also come to respect and appreciate themselves. They will realize that learning is a life-long process and should be enjoyed.

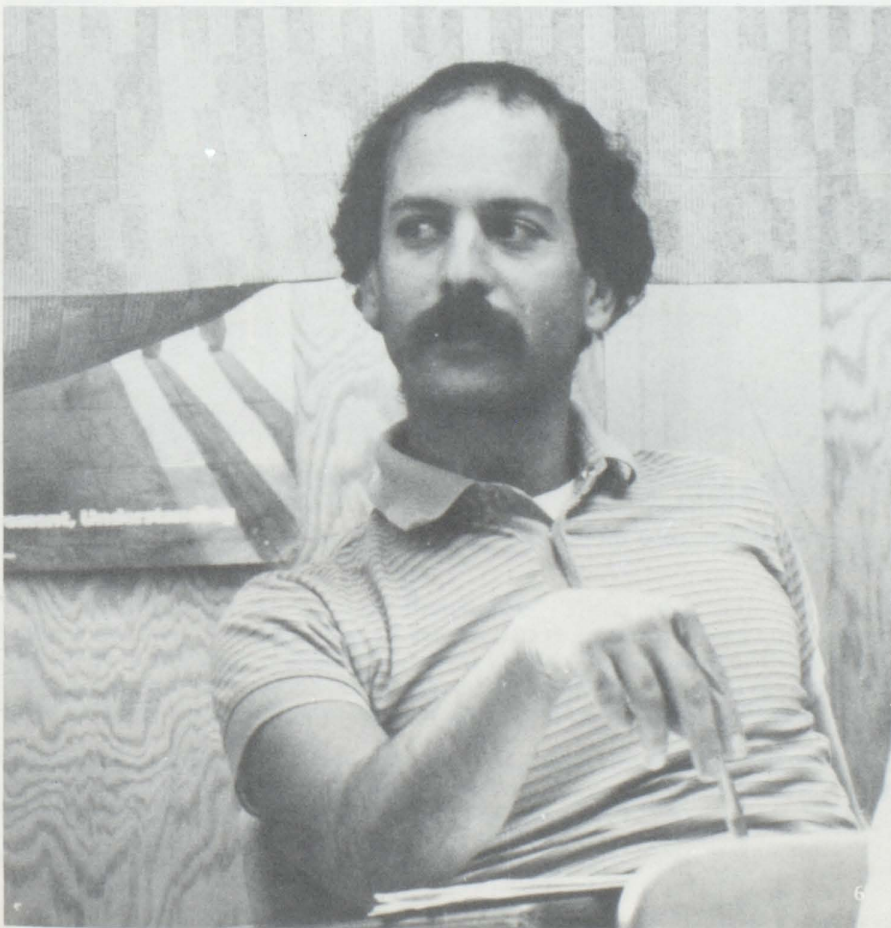

So, students get more out of English class than they think, whatever the method of teaching. One of Mr. Wallach's tricks is making students "learn the importance of literature by letting them eat in class." Mr. Wallach also likes to wear Bowling shirts with other peoples' names on them. Here, Mr. French disagrees. "I'd never wear a bowling shirt. A Hawaiian shirt, maybe. But a bowling shirt, never!"

It was a hot summer's day a long time ago. I wanted to play catch but my big brother was busy, so I asked him what he was doing. "Homework!", he said in a loud molested voice. I snuk a look at his, homework. It had alot of letter-numbers and equations like  $\text{CrO}_4$  and  $\text{CrO}_4\text{H}_4$ . I saw this and said to myself, "I will never be able to do stuff like that."

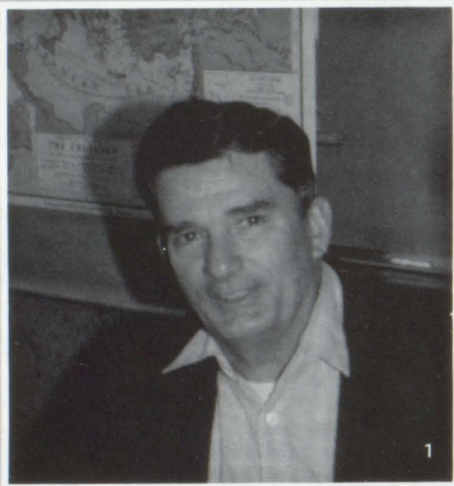

Today I look back and laugh at the "Homework!". Those letter-numbers and equations are very important parts of the field of science. Not all sciences have letter-numbers but they are related in the sence that they show us our environment and how it works. The teachers of this subject must go through years of studying to be able to teach such an important subject. These individuals must be highly dedicated in order to teach such a complex subject and still add that touch of class.

Science is a very important subject which could hold the future for many students today. The teachers of the sciences can be proud for they are setting the foundations for such a future. And for many other individuals just "understanding that stuff" is enough.

SOCIAL SCIENCES

The Social Science Department is a broad one, covering many classes, from requirements like American Government and U.S. History to electives like Geography and Law. These classes are a very important part of our education, as many of them help us deal with today's society. They also teach us of our past, and it is important to learn of our heritage before we move into the future.

BUSINESS

1. Mr. Raflowski thinks, "What do you want," 2. "Your kidding", says Sandy Deluze to Mr. Stratigopoulos 3. "Problems", asks Mrs. Jacobs

The Department of Business plays a vital part in preparing students for life. The dedicated individuals who teach business lay the foundation for innovative students to excel in the competitive field of business.

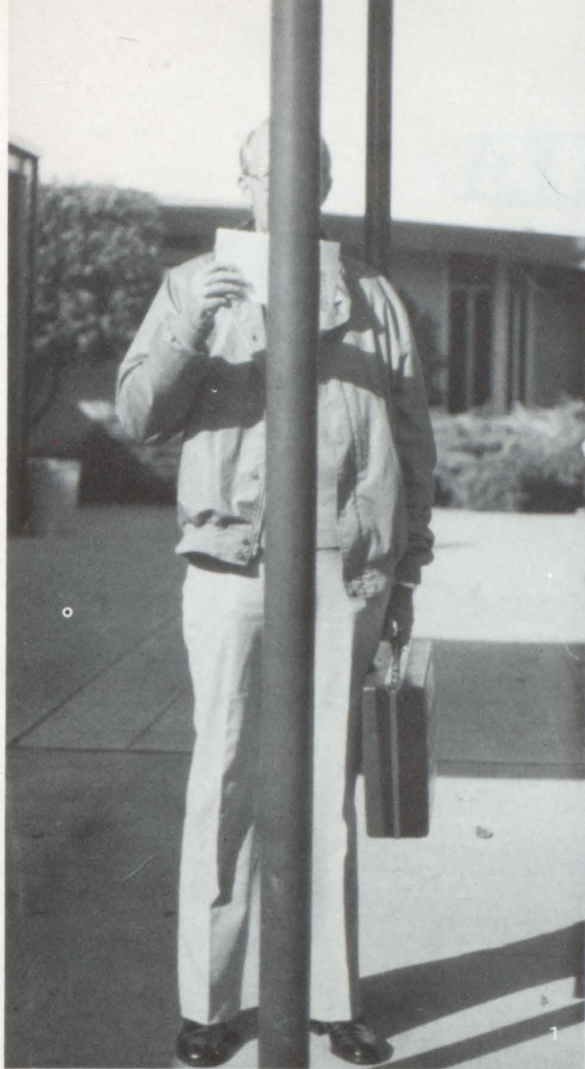

The things which are taught, not only help future businessmen but help you in everyday living. These skills can help you manage your finances, keep track of records and so on. The students involved in these classes may or may not know this, but what they will learn in their business classes will help them throughout life. What a benefit it would be to learn to type and manage money. In today's computerized society both these attributes will serve to help.

These teachers enjoy teaching a subject which has such an impact on an individual's life. "I thought I could never learn to type", "I'm so poor in math I thought I could never learn to keep books or records of any kind." Students who have taken business classes can no longer say these phrases.

EDUCATION

"To help students get physically fit, to let them enjoy themselves, and to expose them to activities they can participate in the rest of their lives," is the goal behind the physical education department, according to Mr. Guinn Boggs. Besides the more familiar sports such as soccer and volleyball, students had the opportunity to participate in such sports as folk dancing, jazzercise, archery, and wrestling. The system was run on a different basis than previous years. Students were instructed by the same teacher for an entire semester instead of just a quarter. This was to improve student-teacher relationships, letting everyone get to know each other better. Mrs. Marie Dean commented, "I like to be able to help someone learn, to see them start from zero and work their way up to success."

IT'S MORE THAN ENGLISH

What's more than English? Why learn another language? Where would I ever use it? Who would I have to practice on? These are a few of the common questions asked the foreign language teachers at Washington High School this past year. Naturally they had all the answers as teachers usually do. First, English isn't the most common language in the world, so you should speak another language just to get by in life. Second, As a future reference in a job you might need to speak Spanish, French, or German, at any given time. Third, you know that European vacation you've always dreamed of, well how are you ever going to survive over there if you don't know the language. Finally, sometime you and a friend might want to talk about something private and not want someone else around to hear. So, brush up on what you learned, who knows it might just come in handy some day. There's more than just English.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

The point in taking one of these courses is to learn a trade in which you can follow up on after high school. Like an ROP they teach you a skill that you can make a living doing. They also provide you with a knowledge of a car maintenance in case you get stuck out in the middle of no where and your car breaks down. Our photography class has expanded tremendously in the past few years. Students that participate in the photography competitions always place. We're quite proud of our industrial arts program at W.H.S.

WASHINGTON BAND, CHORUS

This year at Washington the Performing Arts have alot to offer the students. To start the year off band and chorus will be devoting there time with a lot of different activities. They plan on performing in Christmas concerts and a few spring concerts. In March they will be performing at the solo-ensemble festival at Cal-State Hayward. Also in March they will be traveling to schools in the district to promote the music program and march in the local parades.

1. Laurie Stephenson, and Renee Taylor, Mike Marcus, and Kym Thurm put on a play in drama. 2. Mark Anderson and Laurie Pennington share a scene. 3. Cindy Layer gives a speech. 4. Dennis Wright picks up invisible doggie —!

BOOK WORMS

Shhhh! No talking. This is your last warning, the next time you're out. That was the fear of the library last year. This year the library has more of a relaxed atmosphere. You walk in and say hello to Mrs. Schreiber and take a seat. You can actually whisper across the table without being afraid. More people visit the library, finishing up homework or reading for enjoyment in a warm quiet place rather than on the benches, in front of the science wing. There's alot happening in their you might even become a little book worm if you drop in often.

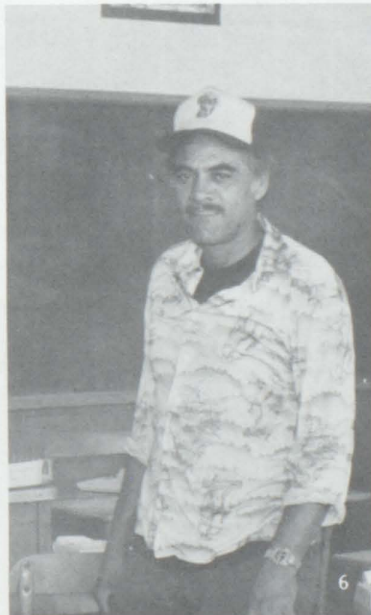

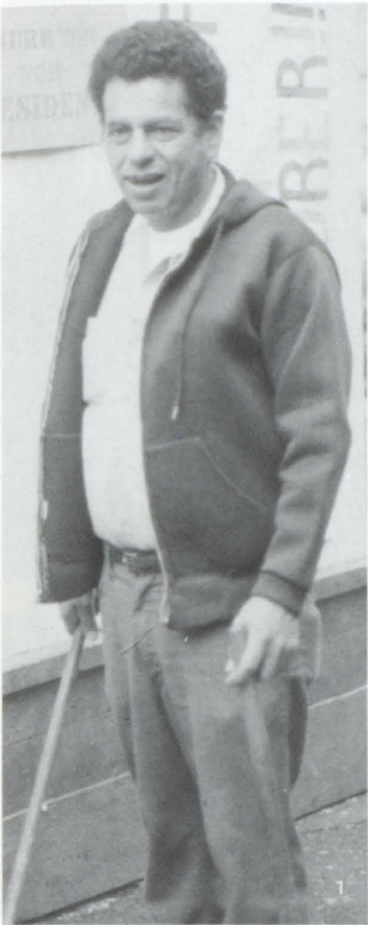

1. Mrs. Wanzer making plans to rearrange a section of books. 2. Mrs. Schreiber demonstrates the use of the card file for our enjoyment. 3. The unbeatable team of Mrs. Wanzer and Mrs. Schreiber.

MAINTENANCE 83-84

Did you recognize these people? Well, if you didn't, they were the Maintenance people, who took care of Washington High School, during the years of 1983-84. They kept the restrooms clean, classrooms spotless, and did other tasks around W.H.S.

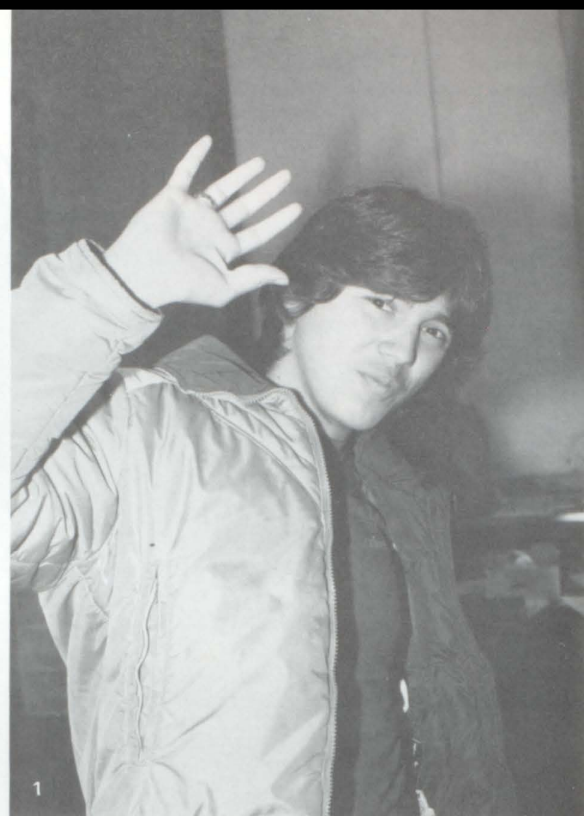

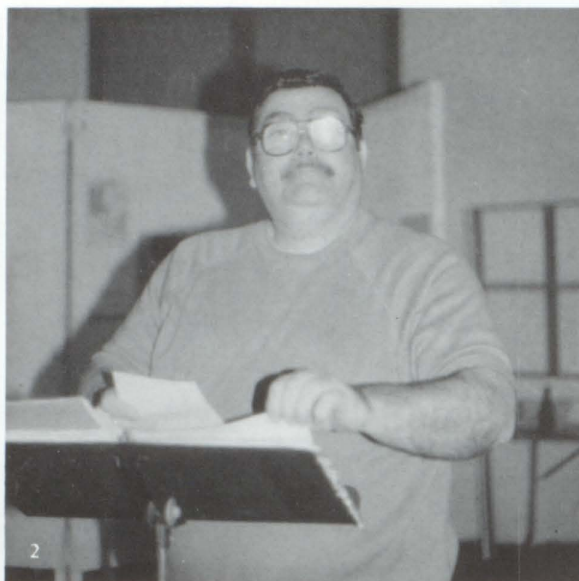

1. Tony Rodriguez. 2. Mike Stroud. 3. Jackie Kirchgatter. 4. Julian De-lao. 5. Chris Garcia. 6. Felix Echevarria. 7. Bill Tibbetts.

Ms. K always watched the girls locker room, "Did anyone turn in a gold bracelet?", is just one of many common questions asked throughout the year. Special thanks went to her every time the answer was yes.

NOBODY LEAVE!!!!

1. "You have to find some way to get your picture in the year-book," says Jaime Vargas. 2. Mr. Brower looks up from taking the roll to find out Stephanie Stahler finally came to class one day. 3. BACK ROW: Butch Kavorkian, Monica Garcia, Louis Zavala, Jaime Vargas, Mike Oden, Patti Weiderholt, Marie Taylor, Natalie Schramm, Carrie Edwards. FRONT ROW: Julie Dinh, Rhonda Norris, Debbie Knoles, Dawn Greenwood, Brian Surano, Cara Tootle, Tami Warhurst, Stephanie Stahler, Suzette Martello, and Michelle Henderson.

1. Strolling into class after the bell rings is Suzette Martello. 2. Carrie Edwards and Sandy Deluze look at articles in the Hatchet and layouts in Glamour for ideas for pages. 3. Taking a rare picture is Mike Oden. 4. As Marie Taylor, Patti Weiderholt, and Natalie Schramm look through the finished pages of the yearbook, Carrie Edwards and Butch Kavorkian have to be clowns to get their picture in the yearbook.

What makes up the yearbook staff? First you have a couple of hard workers, then you have a lot of last minute workers, then at last you have no workers at all. This year the Washingtonian Staff was made up of this very combination. Everyone learned how to use layout sheets, copy sheets, and proportion wheels. Although it was questionable if everyone mastered these tools. Writing captions, copy and headlines were monthly chores. Cutting the deadlines close was a common happening this year. It was amazing that the book finally completed. Julie Dinh and Debbie Knoles were major contributors to pushing things to be done. Section Editors were attempted this year, but they seemed to disappear after the first couple of weeks of school.

You might wonder what don't leave means. Each day in yearbook class if you didn't have anything to do in class you could sign out on the chalkboard. Naturally you had to stay on campus, but at least you could soak up those long awaited rays and try to get a sun tan. Occasionally the words "NOBODY LEAVE" were seen upon the board. This meant that Mr. Brower or Cara Tootle were going to give a lecture about people not turning their pages in or their pages were not completed if they were turned in. Some people took the deadlines and talks seriously but others just laughed and ignored all the warnings.

The staff of 83-84 was a great group of people on the personal level. They were willing to listen and work sometimes, but the most outstanding quality they showed was support. Congratulations for putting out an outstanding book and hope that all the readers enjoy it. The memories of this year have been recorded in here for helping you to recall the past in your future years.

To the staff of the Washingtonian, don't worry you'll never have to meet another deadline or stay in class another day in your life. Thank you for putting your time this year everybody will appreciate it some day.

Special thanks go to Ash Studios for taking last minute pictures, sports dances and homecoming pictures were deeply appreciated. Jostens Publishing thank you for giving us your best representative, Mr. Les Peterson. Staff photographers were Ronnie Graves, Mike Oden, and Carrie Edwards. Mr. Ficken let us use his room for developing pictures to meet the deadlines.

NOBO WHAT'S IT ALL ABOUT?

1. Eric Morgan puts on his glasses, while Mike McBride tells him what he is missing. 2. Lennie Filipoff takes a picture of an unknown photographer. 3. Tracy Stoffers and Karen Long finish off a final paste up. 4. John Serratt, Liana Crabtree, and Laura Lucido, speak, see, and hear no evil.

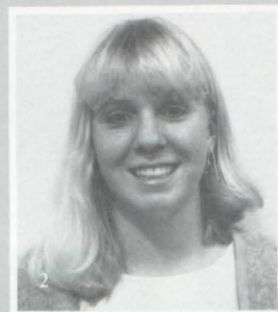

What's it all about? That's what this year's Hatchet staff tried to deliver to the students of Washington. Trying to keep the students informed about the upcoming events such as: dances, sporting events, the Senior show, the Donkey Basketball Game, the Olympichon, and Grad Night. The Hatchet included news on what happened in Student Council, what each class had planned, what were the latest hot movies, what concerts were coming up, and how to dress in style. Good sports coverage with all sports not just the main spectator sports. Many late nights were spent doing paste ups to meet the morning press.

Mrs. Wilson was the Advisor, who pushed the staff to do an outstanding paper. Washington is really on the move upward. We're becoming a competitive school again. If you read your newspapers you would've already found that out.

OFFICERS

"It's really rewarding and it helps you to understand people later on in life," commented Butch Kavorian. What's so special about being a class officer? Each class president tries to push through as many activities for their class as possible. This years senior class president tried to get a breakfast, a picnic, a grad night, and a luxury senior ball. As usual Jenneane got what she wanted, no one ever questioned her ability as a leader. The junior and sophomore classes sat back and watched this year. The freshmen went into a hole, this seems to be each freshmen class' doom. "I feel that the chance that I have been given to help the senior class has opened my mind to the auras of the universe and God Bless America and fire hydrants," says Tami Warhurst.

Their leadership in Spirit Week, was outstanding. When the freshmen class was terrorized, it was the officers who caused the classes to get involved in helping restore their posters and other decorations. "It did my heart good to see such school unity, it's what Spirit Week needed to make it all worth while." stated Jenneane Jansen.

TALL GIRLS AND SMALL

The freshman class is characterized by tall girls, small guys, and getting new clothes all the time to keep up with the styles. You see the freshmen girls with their mouths hanging open over the upperclassmen of boys, and they tend to ignore their classmates.

For the first year at Washington High School we have freshmen cheerleaders to support the freshmen football team, and this seems to be working out well. Also, the freshmen class seems to have plenty of spirit, so they fit right in.

On the first few days of school we saw the freshmen running around going crazy looking for their classes, practically in tears, but after a few weeks they settled down.

SPIRITERS

The Freshman class showed great school spirit during spirit week. In their first year the Freshmen put together a well thought out skit. "That was a good skit," or "That wasn't too bad," could be heard from members of every class, complimenting the Freshmen for their skit. The skit involved the kidnapping of Hank the Husky by a rival gang called the Vikings. Every class attempted a rescue, but only the class of '87 had enough spirit to save the day for Hank.

SPORTY

The class of '87 showed a great dedication to fall sports. For the fall sports of football and cross-country, losses have come few and far between. "Our cross-country team has the nucleus of a good team," says Mr. Lemmon, the cross-country coach. Such success can be said of very few classes. The freshman participation in sports and spirit week was also complemented by their participation in clubs and student government. The class of '87 has set high standards which will be tough to follow for classes to come.

OVERCROWDED

"I have no more room in my class", "Some of you may have to transfer out," and "Just sit in a chair-there are no more desks." These phrases seemed to be heard more often in freshman classes. Many rooms were overcrowded and lacked a sufficient number of desks. This was due to the fact that the freshman class has over five-hundred students — almost a hundred more than any other class. Some new teachers were brought in, but like all schools there were never enough teachers.

GOOD FORTUNE

The problem of overcrowding came about because of the rearranging of the school districts. Washington's district was made larger, causing the increase in the number of students. The larger class can be turned into an advantage. The larger class could lead to more participation in school activities. In their remaining years the class of '87 could set the trend for years to come.

IT AIN'T EASY

Being a freshman these days is not easy. I takes a lot of work. Starting high school can be a lot of work. There are new schedules, rules, and classes. It seems that the forms will never end and that you will never fit in with all the other classes. But it does settle down. By the end of the year you wonder why you were ever worried. That is when it seems all worthwhile. Despite all those tests, all those teachers and classes you passed, you finally made it. You passed your freshman year.

WHAT'S NEW?

What's new? This year at Washington High School for the first time there are Freshmen Cheerleaders. They were in charge of keeping the spirits up at all the freshmen sports events, such as: football, basketball, and wrestling. They boosted the spirits of their classmates as well as everyone else. More Freshmen were encouraged to join sports by this new found enthusiasm!

JUST STARTING

Remember freshmen orientation? Boy, that was some day wasn't it? You thought they were going to take your picture about a hundred times. And then you got your yearbook and your schedule. You couldn't believe you actually got THAT teacher. All your friends had told you about him/her. Boy, you were lucky! You had your best friend in half of your classes! Freshmen orientation was a hectic, confusing day, but you lived through it. And on the first day of school you had everything ready to go. Now it is the end of the school year. Maybe you are looking forward to the next school year and seeing all of your friends that are still in junior high school. It will be neat being able to see them go through all that you did on your first day of school and at orientation. But no matter how confusing or nervous you were during those few weeks of high school, it was fun. And having fun is what high school is all about.

SOPHOMORE SPIRIT PREVAILED

During the traditional week of school, in which each class competes with each other by giving a skit during lunch and showing their spirit by dressing up in various costumes, the Sophomore class prevailed their true spirit by being victors of the whole competition.

Jennifer Kish, Tammy Talken and Mary Carlson all reveal the real things about themselves.

This year the class of '86 represented a skit which was set in ancient Greece. In their skit they chose the most honorable, spirited and outstanding class spirit to represent Washington High in the yearly sacrifices to the evil Irvington Viking. The Sophomore spirit was chosen and just as the Viking was about to feast on the spirit, Hank Husky destroyed the Viking, after having collected various objects and placed them at the feet of the Viking. The costumes that were worn by the Sophomores, ranged from dressing as a pre-schooler to a bum or bag lady. They are hoping that 1985 will bring them a skit just as good or better than the 1984.

SENIOR TALENT

Bhavna Kurani was born in the state of Gujarat, India. Her family moved to Boston when she was 2 years old. During the middle of her eighth grade year, her family again decided to move, but this time to California.

In her junior year she entered the Miss India California pageant. Though she did not win, she gained an experience she would never forget. She decided to try singing in the talent portion of the pageant, but she had no backup music. An Indian band playing at the show offered to do it for her. And after hearing how good Bhavna was, they asked her to be a part of their band, which was named Nishana, meaning "to aim" or "target". Bhavna, though very surprised, accepted.

At a show she was doing with Nishana, Bhavna accidentally left a tape backstage of herself singing. The director of a famous Bay Area Indian band, Jhankaar, which means "the sound of ringing bells", got hold of the tape, liked it, came to her house, and offered to give her singing lessons.

Bhavna has since sung with Jhankaar, doing shows and private parties. She plans to stay with this band. Bhavna wants to pursue a career in singing, either American or Indian music. We wish Bhavna much luck.

FRESHMEN CLASS SHOWS SPIRIT

The class of 1984 had spirit from the beginning. Led by President Jenneane Jansen. Vice President Alyssa Kim, Secretary Timo Parrish, and Treasurer Keith Cox, and advised by Mr. Zlatnik, Spirit Week was a great success for the Freshmen class. The skit followed a 60's theme, complete with surfers and bikinis. And when the upper three classes were disqualified, giving the class of '84 an instant win, they showed their integrity by forfeiting the prize.

The freshman year is traditionally a new experience for everyone. Timo Parrish and Cheryl Uhler remember "those massive guys! They were so huge." Other memories are not as fond. Nicole Gallegos remembers feeling like a typical freshman, having to wait for a ride from her mom everyday after school. But now that their freshman year is only a memory, most Seniors are surprised that it passed so quickly. As Bhavna Kurani said, "Then, I couldn't believe I was in high school. Now, I can't believe I'm out!"

DEADLINES! DEADLINES!

As Seniors we were faced with the many deadlines that must be met. We constantly worried about missing a date and the rush to meet those deadlines. Believe it or not, being a Senior can be tough. It was either filling out the SAT application on Wednesday in Physics while pretending to listen to Mr. Sinnock, to meet the Friday deadline; or rushing to the nearest public mailbox after school to mail a college application. Butch Kavorkian said, "The colleges are rushing us unnecessarily. It's much too soon at the beginning of the year to decide where to go. Too many things are going on at the beginning of the year so people don't have time."

But college deadlines weren't the only problems. The suspense of waiting for replies from colleges you applied for, the indecision of what college to go to, the uncertainty of having to declare a major ... to name a few. Then towards the end of the year there were cap and gown orders deadlines, announcements, etc.

It could all have been a pain but all of us made it and it wasn't as bad after all. It was a terrific Senior year despite the dreaded deadlines.

PAGEANT WINNER

Monica Garcia was born in Columbia, South America in 1965. When she was six years old, she moved to New York, where she lived for about three years. She and her family then moved to Union City, California.

For Monica's freshman, sophomore, and junior years she attended Fremont Christian, but for her senior year she transferred to Washington.

At age seventeen she ran for Ms. Latin America and was successful. Monica said she was very nervous and was not very confident when she saw her attractive competitors, but she scored high in every category. Along with the glory of winning, she was awarded $1,000, a trip for two to Hawaii, cosmetics, and a years' wardrobe for every appearance she makes.

Monica will give up her title on December 15, 1983, but I am sure the memories she has of this achievement will never be forgotten.

SENIOR BOSSES

This year Washington is under a system in which each class is assigned a dean, a counselor, and a secretary to be in charge of that class. The Senior class dean, counselor, and secretary are Mr. Roy Snyder, Mrs. Beth Polland, and Miss Billie Silva, respectively.

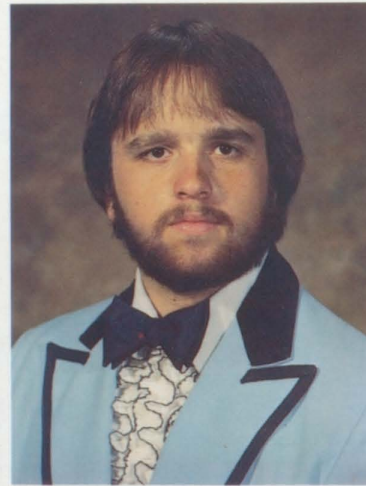

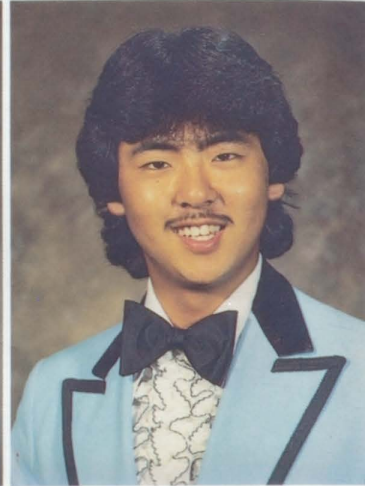

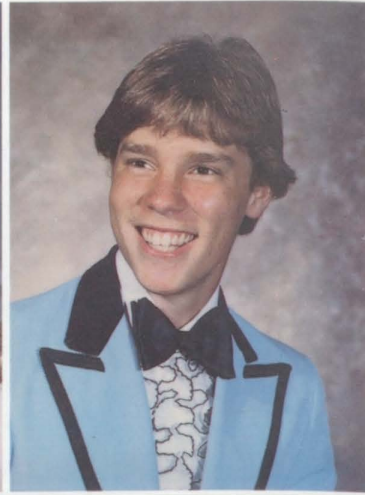

Mr. Snyder, when asked how he likes working with the Seniors, replied, "I like working with them fine. I'm dealing with very mature individuals. It's amazing how fast time flies, how much the past four years have seen changes. I've known many seniors since their freshman year." Mr. Snyder is also responsible for the sophomore class. His job includes responsibilities for attendance, discipline, student activities, whatever that pertains to in either of the classes. "My big goal this year is to visit every teacher's classroom for 15 minutes and see what's going on in the trenches."

Mrs. Polland commented that "It's great working with Seniors. They're the best." But she thought the new system is a bummer for the kids because they have to change counselors. "A lot of the kids have goals and seem to know where they're going." She likes being a counselor for the seniors the best, although she didn't ask for the assignment. In Mrs. Polland's spare time, she builds houses, cabinets, grandfather clocks; in other words, she likes to build things. "Washington High is swell and the kids are great."

Although Miss Silva enjoys working with the senior class, she misses working in the counseling office. She likes to deal with all students instead of just one class. She has been working at Washington since August 1959, in the old building. She liked the old building a lot better, because there was more atmosphere. She was sorry to have seen it close. It was very sad and a big mistake to her. Miss Silva likes to knit, is very active in the Aelper Gruppe, a Swiss Club, even though she's not Swiss. She's currently the secretary for the Ad Hoc Committee for the Restoration of WHS, and she enjoys watching TV. Miss Silva's advice to the WHS student body is, "I wish that students would realize that these are the best years of their lives and they shouldn't wish to get out of school as soon as they can."

DANISH STUDENT

As a student from Denmark, Christine Larsen found California weather to be much better than Denmark. She is staying with the Armor family, whom she has known for quite a while.

Christine found Washington very different. In Denmark, you are grouped with about 20 other people with the same schedule. If you don't like the people in your group, then you're basically stuck with them. Christine likes Washington a lot. "The kids here are open and willing to help others," says she, unlike the Danish kids who are a bit more reserved.

Christine came to the U.S. on September 15, 1983. She took 3 weeks to travel with a Danish friend to Los Angeles. She confessed to liking Fremont a lot better. "L.A. was too big, it's hard to get around without getting on a highway. But I liked the beaches there."

In Denmark you can miss up to 15% of the total number of school days, which is approximately 1 day of each month. But this includes days you are absent because you are sick. So if you don't plan on getting sick for the whole year, you can basically stay home from school for about 9 days without getting in trouble. Christine feels Washington is a lot more disciplined than Danish schools.

Kids in Denmark pretty much deesss the same and like the same kinds of music as the kids here. They also see a lot of American movies. Christine has taken English for 6 years and she speaks the language very well. She said most "everybody in Denmark can speak English."

...FROM JAPAN

Sayuri Yamanaka, an exchange student from Japan, is currently staying with Mr. and Mrs. Pease. When asked how she got involved in the exchange program she replied that she found out about it through another foreign exchange student. She thought it would be interesting to come to another country and learn about its cultures so she decided to apply and here she is. At first, her parents didn't take to the idea very well. They said it was too far away and America is a very different country from Japan. But finally after much persuasion from her English teacher and herself, they relented.

She has taken 5 years of English in Japan. Though she speaks the language fairly well, she still said, "English is very hard for me — that's why it wasn't my favorite subject in school — but I studied hard to pass the test so I could come here." In order to qualify to become an exchange student, you have to pass a test of the language of the country you want to go to. Sayuri failed the test the first time, but after taking it a second time she passed it.

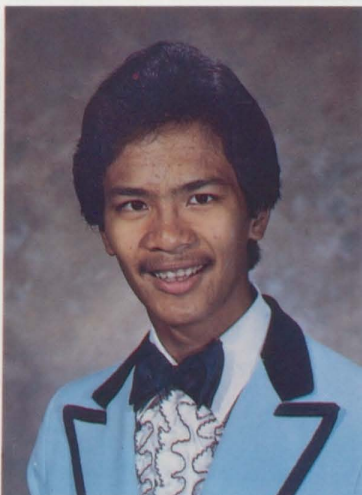

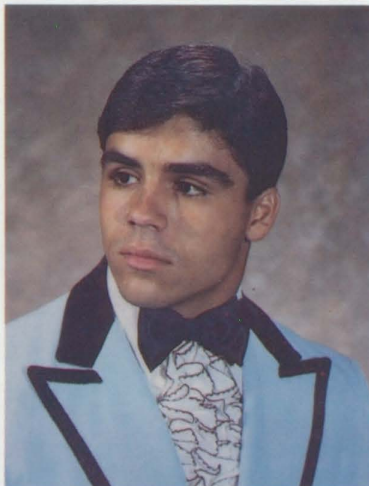

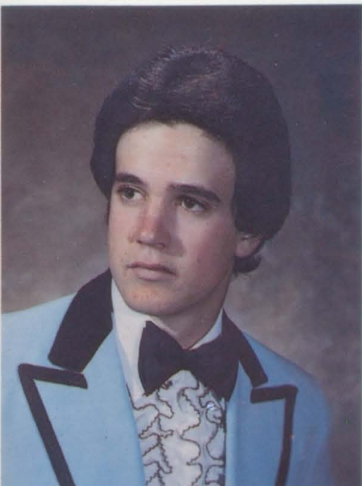

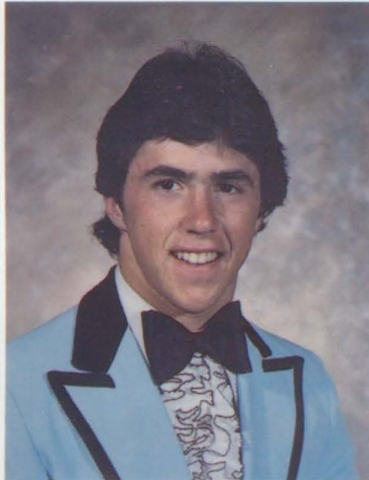

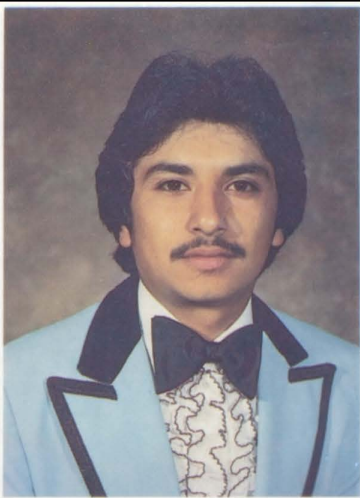

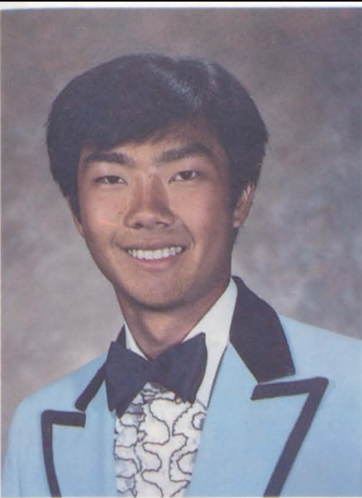

Sayuri loves the United States and would like to attend a university here, but again, English is a problem to her and she's trying to overcome this barrier. She finds many classes at Washington hard because of the English language. She likes Washington a lot and finds the kids very friendly and helpful.

She said a lot of Japanese try to become Americanized by dressing and adopting a lot of Western ways. The Japanese kids especially love American rock-n-roll. Most schools in Japan require the kids to wear uniforms. Kids who are not as bright as others have to wear different uniforms. Sayuri said she was never a good student so she didn't like this rule too much.

Cheer up, Shelly Rishel, it's not the end of the world!

RESTORING WHS

The unused old building that we walk by every day will hopefully not stay useless for long. Two groups in our community have been working together to raise the money needed to rebuild the part of Washington which has fallen into disrepair. These groups are the Washington High Restoration Committee, led by Carl Flegal, a former fremont mayor, and the Fremont Cultural Arts Council, led by Wally Pond, who graduated from WHS in 1931.

The estimated cost of the project is high—$5,000,000. However, progress has been made through much hard work. Many fundraisers have been going on—money is collected in many local businesses in orange cons; McDonald's sponsored a fundraiser; a recent golf tournament, in which many WHS alumni participated, raised $3,000; and a dance at WHS last year raised $1,000. The City of Fremont has agreed to match the money the Committee raises, up to $1 million.

The Committee has done other work, too. WHS has now been named an historical site by both State and National agencies. Agreements have been signed by the School District and the City over the use of the property. After 5 o'clock and on weekends, the auditorium (which would seat 750 people) may be used for community events—pageants, concerts, conventions, seminars. Such an auditorium is much needed in Fremont, and would be much used. However, the school would also benefit. Mrs. Doris Green, an active Committee worker, said, "We are raising money to restore the building as a school—that's very important." Besides having the auditorium, which the drama department could use, WHS would be gaining new classrooms and better facilities. Hopefully, the community will work with the Restoration Committee and the Fremont Cultural Arts Council to make this dream a reality.

SENIOR ATHLETES

Football, tennis, baseball, soccer, basketball, softball ... you name it and Steve Fudenna and Kaarin Woll will play it. They both have each earned 9 Varsity blocks during their 4 high school years. Though Kaarin didn't qualify for a white sweater (she only needed one more block to make it), it was still quite an accomplishment, and a fantastic job on her part. Steve happily did qualify for the white sweater with one block to spare—an amazing record for a guy.

How do these athletes fit school work into their busy schedule? Steve replied, "Sports conflict with school sometimes but I just have to make sure that I'm organized. Sometimes I have to give up some things in order to get my homework finished, like talking on the phone, my sleep, etc ..."

Besides playing sports at school, both Kaarin and Steve participate in city league sports. Kaarin is on the Fremont girls soccer team. Steve plays football, baseball, and soccer for the city, and he also plays baseball and basketball for his church. Besides keeping up his good grades and playing sports, Steve also worked and was involved in Young Life and taking extra classes.

In his spare time, Steve "likes to relax and watch TV, or go out with friends or play other sports." Kaarin just likes to have plain old fun. We're truly proud to have Steve and Kaarin as part of our class.

GREAT ADVISORS

Our advisors over our past four years have been Mr. Zlatnik, Mr. Ulrich, and Mrs. Dillemath.

Mr. Zlatnik, our freshman year advisor, helped us off to a good start. But our Sophomore year we saw a new advisor, Mr. Ulrich. Mr. Ulrich was asked to be our advisor and decided to stay on through our Senior year because, as he said, "I like to work with students outside of class." Along with Mr. Ulrich, Mrs. Dillemath was our Senior class advisor.

Without our advisors to answer our questions and support us, our class may not have been such a success. On behalf of the class of 1984, we say thank goodness for our great class advisors!

SOPHOMORE SPIRIT

Led by President Ernie Neeley, Vice President Steve Fudenna, Treasurer Dawn Greenwood, and Secretary Shelly Rishel, our Sophomore year began and ended with several major changes. Mrs. Polland came to our school as a counselor in September. Dr. Callahan retired as our principal towards the end of the school year, and with Mr. Talken as the new boss we saw the beginning of changes and adjustments to our school. We also welcomed Mr. Mark Adams as the new assistant principal.

Though we took third during Spirit Week, we held our own with electrifying spirit in a skit that featured many popular movies. Darren McCammon as Rhett Butler and Stephanie Stahler as Scarlett O'Hara gave an impressive version of "Gone With the Wind". In "Tarzan", Jane waited anxiously as Tarzan (Ronny Martin) forgot his lines. During the Intermission Suzie Dillon, dressed as a box of popcorn ran across the gym floor yelling "Eat me eat me!" We showed a burst of spirit and unity in "The Creature from the Orange and Black Lagoon".

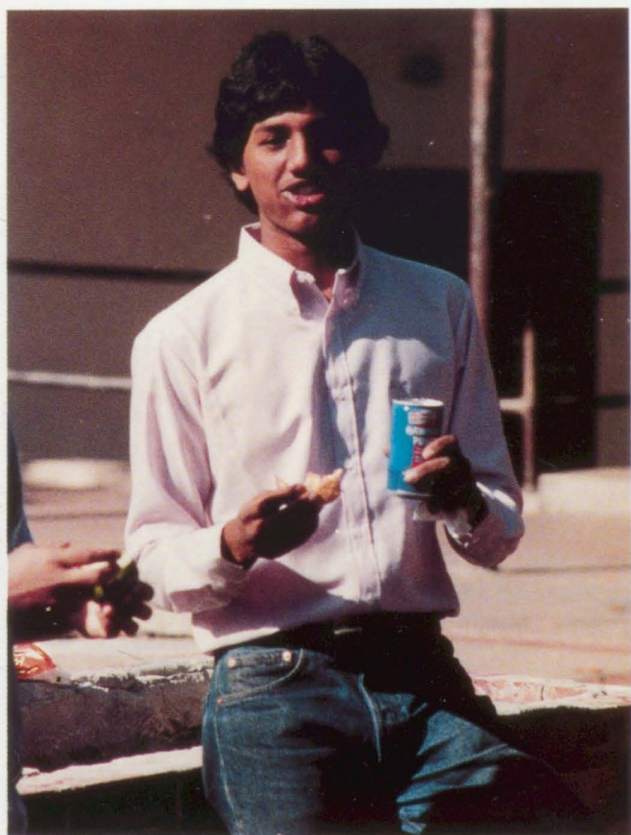

It was all in all a great year that we can look back and be proud of. When asked what she remembered about our sophomore year, Jenneane Jansen replied, "It was great when we beat Mission at their Homecoming Game!"

NEW STUDENT FROM RUSSIA

There was a new face in the Senior class this year that got a lot of attention. Vicki Leydman found herself bombarded with questions about her hometown of Kiev, Russia. She moved to Florida 3 years ago, and then to Fremont for her Senior year, and she seems to have fit into American life beautifully. She is athletic, and especially likes swimming and soccer. She also enjoys drawing, and loves to listen to Russian music.

Vicki said that she likes WHS. "I like the people, especially." This makes sense because the people like her back. She is taking a tough slate of classes, including Calculus and Honors Physics, and she plans on going to college. She would like to be an electrical engineer or an architect, as she has an interest in art and drafting. In any case, Vicki was welcome at Washington, and everyone wishes her the best of luck.

JUNIOR MEMORIES

We finally made it! We were upperclassmen and we could drive—no more having our parents take and pick us up from football games.

Our class officers that year were: Jennifer Overman, President; Suzie Dillon, Vice President; Alyssa Kim, Secretary; and Cheryl Uhler, Treasurer.

During Spirit Week our class unity was truly shown as we took second place. Our theme for our skit was "How WHS was Won". The skit took us from a modern-day classroom scene back into history where we showed how the spirited Husky settlers and calvary could beat the Indian warriors.

Along with all the fun times like football games and parties, there was still homework. Of course most of us will not forget Mr. Burkhardt's class.

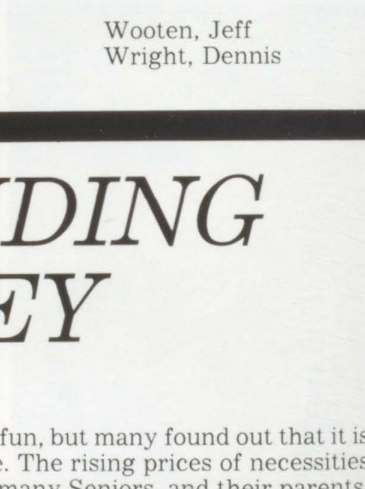

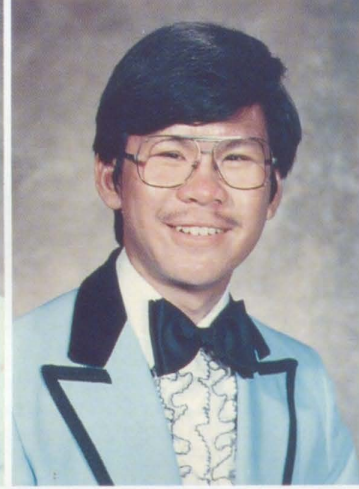

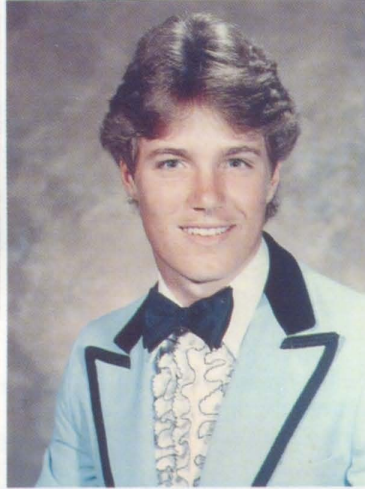

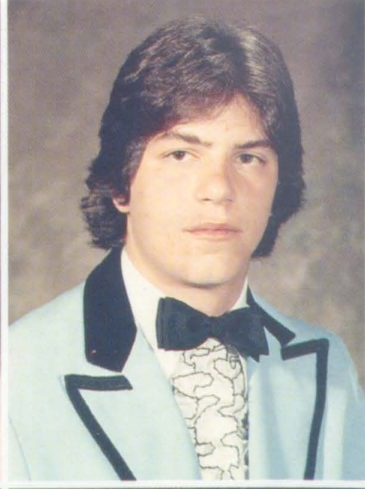

During our Junior year there was also a few sad moments like the tragic deaths of Jacque Cooper and Kim Zygalinski.

All in all, we can all agree that our Junior year was a success, and there were many moments that we will never forget.

SPENDING MONEY

Being a Senior is lots of fun, but many found out that it is also a costly experience. The rising prices of necessities emptied the pockets of many Seniors, and their parents, too. Those wonderful tests that every college-bound Senior had to take didn't run cheap. The SAT cost $10.50, the Achievement Tests were up to $17.50, and the Advanced Placement tests went as high as $40.00. And it cost from $20 to $40 just to apply to many colleges, before even worrying about how college would be paid for.

Then there were the other costs. Yearbooks ran at $20.00, while ASB stickers went for $10.00. And class rings averaged at $100. Even minor expenses added up. As Reeta Prasad said, "Even a Coke is getting expensive." And all those Senior activities also ran into money. The Senior Picnic and Breakfast cost $20.00, and Grad Night was another expense. And, depending on whether or not you ate at McDonalds, the Senior Ball became a major expense. But despite all this, it is still hard to find a Senior who would say it wasn't worth it.

There was a cut in the amount of categories, but there was enough outstanding people in the class of 84 to fill 100 categories. The final categories were: Best Looking, Best All-a-Round, Most Spirited, Most Individual, Most Confused, Friendliest Personality, Most Likely-to-Succeed, Campus Clown, and Most Athletic.

1. Ronnie Martin and Debbie DeReis, Best Looking. 2. Terre Gibson and Stephanie Stahler, Campus Clowns. 3. Steve Fudenna, Most Athletic. 4. Angela Olson, Jill Brumbaugh, and Butch Kavorkian, Friendliest Personality.

ADVERTISEMENTS

CONGRATULATIONS CLASS OF 1984!

I'll miss you: Natalie Schramm, Angela Olson, Leanne Huffman, Rhonda Norris, Kim Stoermer, and Beth Wilson. All of our Gossip, letter writing, and trips out of class. This year would of been unbearable. I bet you feel special you're just lucky you have connections. At last, finally we're free! Good luck in the future!

Love ya,
Cara Tootle

OUR WALK HAS JUST BEGUN*

We've finished our walk throughout this year and there's a special thanks I'd like to give. To the Washingtonian Staff of 1983-84, after all the deadlines and all my lectures of "where are the pages?", I'd like you all to know I appreciate the time you spent working and making the book what it is. I honestly think it's the best book we've ever had. The support you showed each other was outstanding and even though there may have been doubts at times we all pulled through.

I'd like to give very special thanks to Julie Dinh. Without her staying up til' 4:30 one morning we wouldn't of had the yearbook finished on time. "Julie, you're truly a great friend and I'll always remember the time you put in on the last minute touch-ups. Good luck in the future, and I will never forget all your devotion. THANK YOU!"

"Hey ya pal, did you think I forgot you?" All the incompleated pages we sent to Debbie Knoles to put together. There was never a time when I heard Debbie say, "Get someone else to do it, I'm busy." "You were always there and maybe I never said anything but I did realize I never would've got the book finished without your help. THANKS!"

As for the rest of you, you did your pages and did your complaining, but without all of that what would've the class done. I feel I made alot of lasting friendships this year and I got to know each and everyone of you on a personnal basis. You're all near and dear to me and thanks for putting in your time and (questionable) talent. Even though our free sixth period is over, I'll keep you all in my memories of what this year has been and what it has meant to me. What do you say, how about a party next week? I'm sure we can think of something to have one for! Thanks you all-we did it! I LOVE YOU!

Just a few more then you can put down the book. I'm not sure how to say this but here it goes-"Mr. Brower, even though at times I didn't let you know what was going on, infact I kept you in the dark most of the year, I'd like to say if everyone knew you, like I did, they would know what a kind, big hearted, generous, maybe even a nice guy, you are. Good luck with your future editors, and may they get to know you like I did. Thanks you for your understanding and your advice."

Did you all like the cover of the book? Our talented artist was Mark Esquerdo, and the poet was Alan Cerro. "You'll never know what kind of a relief it was after having so many promises to have it done by other people. When it was finally in my hands I was glad I had finally found someone that was reliable enough to get the job done, you're the GREATEST!!" Next time you see one of these people tell them thanks for me.

I guess that covers just about everybody, but I'd just like to thank everybody who worked on the book one more time-THANKS!

OUR WALK HAS JUST BEGUN

When I think of the walk I have just taken, and the many people who have taken it, I am reminded of the words of the poet, "The walk is the beginning of the journey." It is a journey that we all take, and it is a journey that we all take together.

I have been thinking about the walk I have just taken, and the many people who have taken it, and I am reminded of the words of the poet, "The walk is the beginning of the journey." It is a journey that we all take, and it is a journey that we all take together.
